Bree Collaborative Technical Assistance Manager Seattle, WA

Help us to improve health care quality, outcomes, and affordability across Washington State. The technical assistance manager will work with health care delivery organizations and systems, health plans, and other stakeholders to conduct gap analyses, assess barriers, and develop strategies to drive implementation of Bree Collaborative recommendations.

The Bree Collaborative has been working since its formation by the state Legislature in 2011 to identify specific ways to improve health care quality, outcomes, and affordability in Washington State. Our members are appointed by the Governor to represent public health care purchasers for Washington State, private health care purchasers (employers and union trusts), health plans, physicians and other health care providers, hospitals, and quality improvement organizations. Each year, our members identify health care services with high variation in care delivery, have frequent use but do not lead to better care or patient health, or that have patient safety issues. We convene expert workgroups to develop evidence-based guideline reports that take into account existing quality improvement programs and the work done by other organizations, focusing on stakeholder-specific recommendations.

Recommendations are used by the Health Care Authority to guide health care provided to Medicaid enrollees, state employees, and other groups and set a community standard of care for our state.
